

I understand that the NJ Do not Call list restrictions is being challenged. I disagree with the challenges for several reasons, but the most compelling is that my 86 year old mother who is very hard of hearing no longer is disturbed by phone callers that confuse her, and cause her undo anxiety. Not all telemarketers act out of malice, but on those rare occasions when she does answer the phone, it is better to know that the person on the other end is family or friends only. This law works, and it is excellent!
